

"Solving Problems"

Name:

Mistakes are part of our lives and facing them could give us the opportunity to change and learn. However, children don't have the same resources adults have, so solving them might become a great obstacle for them.

If we get them to train their skills on solving problems in an efficient way, they will be better prepared to achieve future challenges. Moreover, the skills for solving problems will contribute to improve their self-esteem and self-confidence.
